The Enterprise has gone Social

Why Social UI

Social media websites are evolving today at breakneck speed. The users as well are adjusting to this change and learning at the same speed. The UI of these sites is very advanced and extremely intuitive. It seems like these sites know exactly what today's user wants and gives it to them.

When compared to social media sites, corporate sites are lacking in features and the intuitiveness that users today have gotten used to. This is the main reason why company intranets and networks are not used widely.

uKnowva has combined the UI of Social Media sites with the required functionality of corporate intranets to deliver the perfect social intranet for the corporates.

THE ENTERPRISE

Enterprise applications still use emails to communicate

Outdated technology and systems have made enterprise applications obsolete

The outdated technology makes using these systems difficult

The obsolete technology makes it difficult to upgrade or adapt these systems to the changing requirements

These systems are inefficient and undependable

Data in these systems is siloed making them not sharable and limited to one system

The poor UI makes navigation extremely complicated and difficult; most of the times, the user needs a manual

Another victim of out-of-date technology is Adaptability, which is nil here

CONSUMER WEB

The consumer web has graduated to instant messengers and messaging to communicate

The transparent system used by the consumer web has increased its no. of users multi-fold

Ease of use with which these systems can be used is astonishing

These systems are incredibly flexible and continuously evolving keeping them always updated

These are highly efficient systems with high dependability and user satisfaction

Data can be easily found, created, shared, and consumed

The UI is very easily understood and quite self explanatory making this system a pleasure to use

These systems are continuously evolving and adapting to new technology
